DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- Group I, claim(s) 39-68 and 76, drawn to a device and printing group including a spring element and pivotable lever holding device arranged to produce a bearing point, support point, and clamping point as recited.
- Group II, claim(s) 69-71 and 77, drawn to a printing group having a forme cylinder and transfer cylinder each having an end leg receiving groove with acute angle, obtuse angle, and right angle relationships as recited.
- Group III, claim(s) 72-75 and 78, drawn to a device having a circular groove, base body, and stop as recited.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I, II, and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The three groups set forth above lack a common technical feature because Group I requires a particular relationship between the spring element and holding element to form the bearing point, support point, and clamping point, which relationship is not required by Group II or III. Additionally, Group II requires a forme cylinder and transfer cylinder each having an end leg receiving groove and arranged such that there are formed the acute angle, right angle, and obtuse angle relationships as recited, these features of Group II not necessarily being required in Group I or III. Finally, Group III requires a circular groove, a base body including a spring element and holding element, and a stop on the base body, these features not being required by Group I or II. It is noted that MPEP 1850 specifically states that “unity of invention has to be considered in the first place only in relation to the independent claims in an international application and not the dependent claims.” Therefore, the discussion of the various groups above is primarily focused on the recitations provided in the independent claims 39, 66, 69, and 72.

3. A telephone call was made to Douglas Hanscom on July 21, 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Leslie J. Evanisko whose telephone number is (571) 272-2161. The examiner can normally be reached on T-F 8:00 am-6:30 pm.
